

HENRI BOURGEOIS

Pouilly-Fumé

Crisp and bold, but with a softer edge than its neighbour in Sancerre, this is Sauvignon Blanc for grown-ups. There is no angularity here - a nuanced palate of fresh fruit and minerality is enough to beguile the most demanding palate. Bursting with gooseberry and pea flavour, it somehow manages to maintain its decorum and composure. It is more versatile than most Sauvignons, and will reward matches with most fish and white meats.
