

ERIK BANTI “Carato”

(Rosso Toscano IGT)

Growing up on his father’s estate outside of Montepulciano began a life-long love affair with wine for Erik Banti. 30 years ago he began to modernize the local wines in the Maremma, in Tuscany’s southwest corner, not far from the sea. Carato is his name for this Sangiovese-based wine, which he ages in wood for about 6 months. Luxurious, dry, medium-full-bodied, with overtones of violet and vivid black cherry, it’s an easy match to a Sunday dinner, or a Tuesday supper...

ERIK BANTI “Carato”

(Rosso Toscano IGT)

Growing up on his father’s estate outside of Montepulciano began a life-long love affair with wine for Erik Banti. 30 years ago he began to modernize the local wines in the Maremma, in Tuscany’s southwest corner, not far from the sea. Carato is his name for this Sangiovese-based wine, which he ages in wood for about 6 months. Luxurious, dry, medium-full-bodied, with overtones of violet and vivid black cherry, it’s an easy match to a Sunday dinner, or a Tuesday supper...

ERIK BANTI “Carato”

(Rosso Toscano IGT)

Growing up on his father’s estate outside of Montepulciano began a life-long love affair with wine for Erik Banti. 30 years ago he began to modernize the local wines in the Maremma, in Tuscany’s southwest corner, not far from the sea. Carato is his name for this Sangiovese-based wine, which he ages in wood for about 6 months. Luxurious, dry, medium-full-bodied, with overtones of violet and vivid black cherry, it’s an easy match to a Sunday dinner, or a Tuesday supper...

ERIK BANTI “Carato”

(Rosso Toscano IGT)

Growing up on his father’s estate outside of Montepulciano began a life-long love affair with wine for Erik Banti. 30 years ago he began to modernize the local wines in the Maremma, in Tuscany’s southwest corner, not far from the sea. Carato is his name for this Sangiovese-based wine, which he ages in wood for about 6 months. Luxurious, dry, medium-full-bodied, with overtones of violet and vivid black cherry, it’s an easy match to a Sunday dinner, or a Tuesday supper...