BEAUJOLAIS MACONNAIS

BEAUJOLAIS-VILLAGES, Volcanic and Fruity

Only 15% of wines made in Beaujolais come from independent wineries growing their own grapes
We sincerely warrant you the authenticity of our wines and their genuine origin from the "vigneron" himself

Winegrower

A vineyard perched above the village of Beaujeu, in the heart of Beaujolais and its old capital, is where I started from almost nothing: a farm and vineyard of only 2 hectares left by my father. When the question of succession arose my attraction to the vine and wine was clear. So I converted old farm buildings into a winery and went in search of well-located plots in Beaujolais, Beaujolais Villages, Morgon, and Régnié. All of these years later I am still hard at work tirelessly and with a great vigor thanks to the passion for a job well done, it's what motivates me everyday.

The particularity of my vineyard is the age of my vines, some of which are centuries old. The vines are a bit like men, they can live to be over 100 and become full of character, the older the vine the more concentrated their juice will become, which is only achieved by the passing of time. The wines therefore have incredible structure and lushness and you can taste their history in each sip! They will also continue to age gracefully in the bottle.

" My intuitions have served me well and today I am proud to make wine from beautiful old vine plots, some more than 100 years old! I vinify each plot separately to keep their magic." JMDUPRE, winemaker in Les Ardillats, Beaujolais
Vineyard and Soil

73 years old vines on average, plot planted in 1940. Early plots situated at "Tour Bourdon" near Regnie – altitude 280 metres – steep slope of southern exposure - sand and silt soil with a mixture of granite sand and stones at the top – the wine grower uses careful clipping to ensure maximum exposure to the sun.

Winemaking

Fermenting for 6-7 days – maceration with whole clusters in vats with cold soak– aged in vats for 6 months – light kieselgur(silica) filtration – bottling on the estate in traditional Burgundy bottles and natural corks in April.

Tasting notes

Very fresh primary notes of red and black berries with some smoky, earthy, herbal notes, a touch of spice and some black tea / currants notes.
