

DOMAINE DES
ARDOISIÈRES
'ARGILE' IGP ALLOBROGIE

There are corners of the wine world where an individual wine-maker re-defines what is possible. And things are never the same again. Think Dagueneau in Pouilly-Fume, or Mayer in Burgundy. Well there's a young man called Brice Omont doing the very same for the Savoie. Allowing the terroir to sing. Take the Argiles. A racy mineral blend of Jacquère, Chardonnay and Mondeuse Blanche. It seems that more than these grapes we taste the terroir of stony vertiginous vineyards.

DOMAINE DES
ARDOISIÈRES
'ARGILE' IGP ALLOBROGIE

There are corners of the wine world where an individual wine-maker re-defines what is possible. And things are never the same again. Think Dagueneau in Pouilly-Fume, or Mayer in Burgundy. Well there's a young man called Brice Omont doing the very same for the Savoie. Allowing the terroir to sing. Take the Argiles. A racy mineral blend of Jacquère, Chardonnay and Mondeuse Blanche. It seems that more than these grapes we taste the terroir of stony vertiginous vineyards.

DOMAINE DES
ARDOISIÈRES
'ARGILE' IGP ALLOBROGIE

There are corners of the wine world where an individual wine-maker re-defines what is possible. And things are never the same again. Think Dagueneau in Pouilly-Fume, or Mayer in Burgundy. Well there's a young man called Brice Omont doing the very same for the Savoie. Allowing the terroir to sing. Take the Argiles. A racy mineral blend of Jacquère, Chardonnay and Mondeuse Blanche. It seems that more than these grapes we taste the terroir of stony vertiginous vineyards.

DOMAINE DES
ARDOISIÈRES
'ARGILE' IGP ALLOBROGIE

There are corners of the wine world where an individual wine-maker re-defines what is possible. And things are never the same again. Think Dagueneau in Pouilly-Fume, or Mayer in Burgundy. Well there's a young man called Brice Omont doing the very same for the Savoie. Allowing the terroir to sing. Take the Argiles. A racy mineral blend of Jacquère, Chardonnay and Mondeuse Blanche. It seems that more than these grapes we taste the terroir of stony vertiginous vineyards.