

Cantina del Pino

Dolcetto d'Alba

Renato Vacca takes care of the wine-making at this small Piedmont estate, while his father works the vineyards. The Dolcetto d'Alba is the wine that first made the estate's reputation. Earthier and more gutsy than Beaujolais, it has the versatility of the French wine. A combination of rich, earthy flavours and bright, juicy fruit, this example is a great partner for lighter dishes.

Cantina del Pino

Dolcetto d'Alba

Renato Vacca takes care of the wine-making at this small Piedmont estate, while his father works the vineyards. The Dolcetto d'Alba is the wine that first made the estate's reputation. Earthier and more gutsy than Beaujolais, it has the versatility of the French wine. A combination of rich, earthy flavours and bright, juicy fruit, this example is a great partner for lighter dishes.

Cantina del Pino

Dolcetto d'Alba

Renato Vacca takes care of the wine-making at this small Piedmont estate, while his father works the vineyards. The Dolcetto d'Alba is the wine that first made the estate's reputation. Earthier and more gutsy than Beaujolais, it has the versatility of the French wine. A combination of rich, earthy flavours and bright, juicy fruit, this example is a great partner for lighter dishes.

Cantina del Pino

Dolcetto d'Alba

Renato Vacca takes care of the wine-making at this small Piedmont estate, while his father works the vineyards. The Dolcetto d'Alba is the wine that first made the estate's reputation. Earthier and more gutsy than Beaujolais, it has the versatility of the French wine. A combination of rich, earthy flavours and bright, juicy fruit, this example is a great partner for lighter dishes.