

ADAMI
PROSECCO 13 'GARBEL'

'Garbel' Prosecco 13? Well, Garbel means dry and crisp in the local dialect of the hills around Treviso, in the hinterland of Venice. Prosecco is the name of a local grape, and the sparkling wine it is used for (this version has a smidgeon of Chardonnay too). The Adami family are one of the smaller producers, making wine of the highest quality. And this apple and pear scented version is in fact quite dry and crisp. That's what the 13 indicates too: it's the grams of sugar/liter. Great on its own, and outstanding with fish.

ADAMI
PROSECCO 13 'GARBEL'

'Garbel' Prosecco 13? Well, Garbel means dry and crisp in the local dialect of the hills around Treviso, in the hinterland of Venice. Prosecco is the name of a local grape, and the sparkling wine it is used for (this version has a smidgeon of Chardonnay too). The Adami family are one of the smaller producers, making wine of the highest quality. And this apple and pear scented version is in fact quite dry and crisp. That's what the 13 indicates too: it's the grams of sugar/liter. Great on its own, and outstanding with fish.

ADAMI
PROSECCO 13 'GARBEL'

'Garbel' Prosecco 13? Well, Garbel means dry and crisp in the local dialect of the hills around Treviso, in the hinterland of Venice. Prosecco is the name of a local grape, and the sparkling wine it is used for (this version has a smidgeon of Chardonnay too). The Adami family are one of the smaller producers, making wine of the highest quality. And this apple and pear scented version is in fact quite dry and crisp. That's what the 13 indicates too: it's the grams of sugar/liter. Great on its own, and outstanding with fish.

ADAMI
PROSECCO 13 'GARBEL'

'Garbel' Prosecco 13? Well, Garbel means dry and crisp in the local dialect of the hills around Treviso, in the hinterland of Venice. Prosecco is the name of a local grape, and the sparkling wine it is used for (this version has a smidgeon of Chardonnay too). The Adami family are one of the smaller producers, making wine of the highest quality. And this apple and pear scented version is in fact quite dry and crisp. That's what the 13 indicates too: it's the grams of sugar/liter. Great on its own, and outstanding with fish.